OUR VISION: INNOVATION BY TRADITION

Future-oriented companies need complex electrotechnical solutions – customized, reliable and state of the art.

That is our expertise: Since 1956 NATUS has been working as a professional partner to the industry sector, power generation business and big engineering companies. As an independent family business, we combine traditional values such as respect and mutual trust with the power of innovation of a futuristic technology company.

Long-term thinking and action are in our philosophy. Along with our employees, customers, suppliers and partners we strive for successful cooperations, based on first class individually customized solutions.

“As a family business, we create sustainable values – for our customers, our employees and the society.”

THE NATUS RECIPE FOR SUCCESS: GLOBAL STRATEGY WITH LOCAL ROOTS

We are proud of our home Trier, the place of incorporation of NATUS and home to its head office.

We combine our local tradition with a sustainable global strategy: NATUS systems supply, control and protect industrial plants all over the world. International customers can access our range of services – including worldwide service – via an extensive network of qualified contacts. In addition to our sales locations in Germany we also have sales offices and cooperation partners in Europe, the Middle East, Central America and a joint venture in China.

Through our involvement in future markets,
we have attained intercultural skills and high potential for growth.

SO ENGAGED

NATUS stands for responsibility and social engagement

VALUE-BASED ACTION IN FOCUS

NATUS understands value-based action as human and social responsibility, internal as well as external. For this reason we have an intensive cooperation with the German non-profit association “Lebenshilfe” to support the social integration of people with disabilities in our company and offer them excellent employment opportunities.

In addition we are committed to promoting the lives of disadvantaged young people and working together with various organizations in the region. We support local sports clubs, sponsor the national annual youth science competition “Jugend forscht” and are engaged in the fields of arts and culture. We have already received several awards for our diverse social engagement activities.

As a sought-after employer we not only train but also offer career opportunities and develop individual further training programmes. The health of our employees is very important to us – we do the utmost to ensure that our employees feel comfortable with us and welcome all people with our open and appreciative corporate culture. Through this practice we are absolutely convinced that diversity enriches us.

QUALITY AND ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS

We must base our entrepreneurial success to a large extent on our ability to operate sustainably.

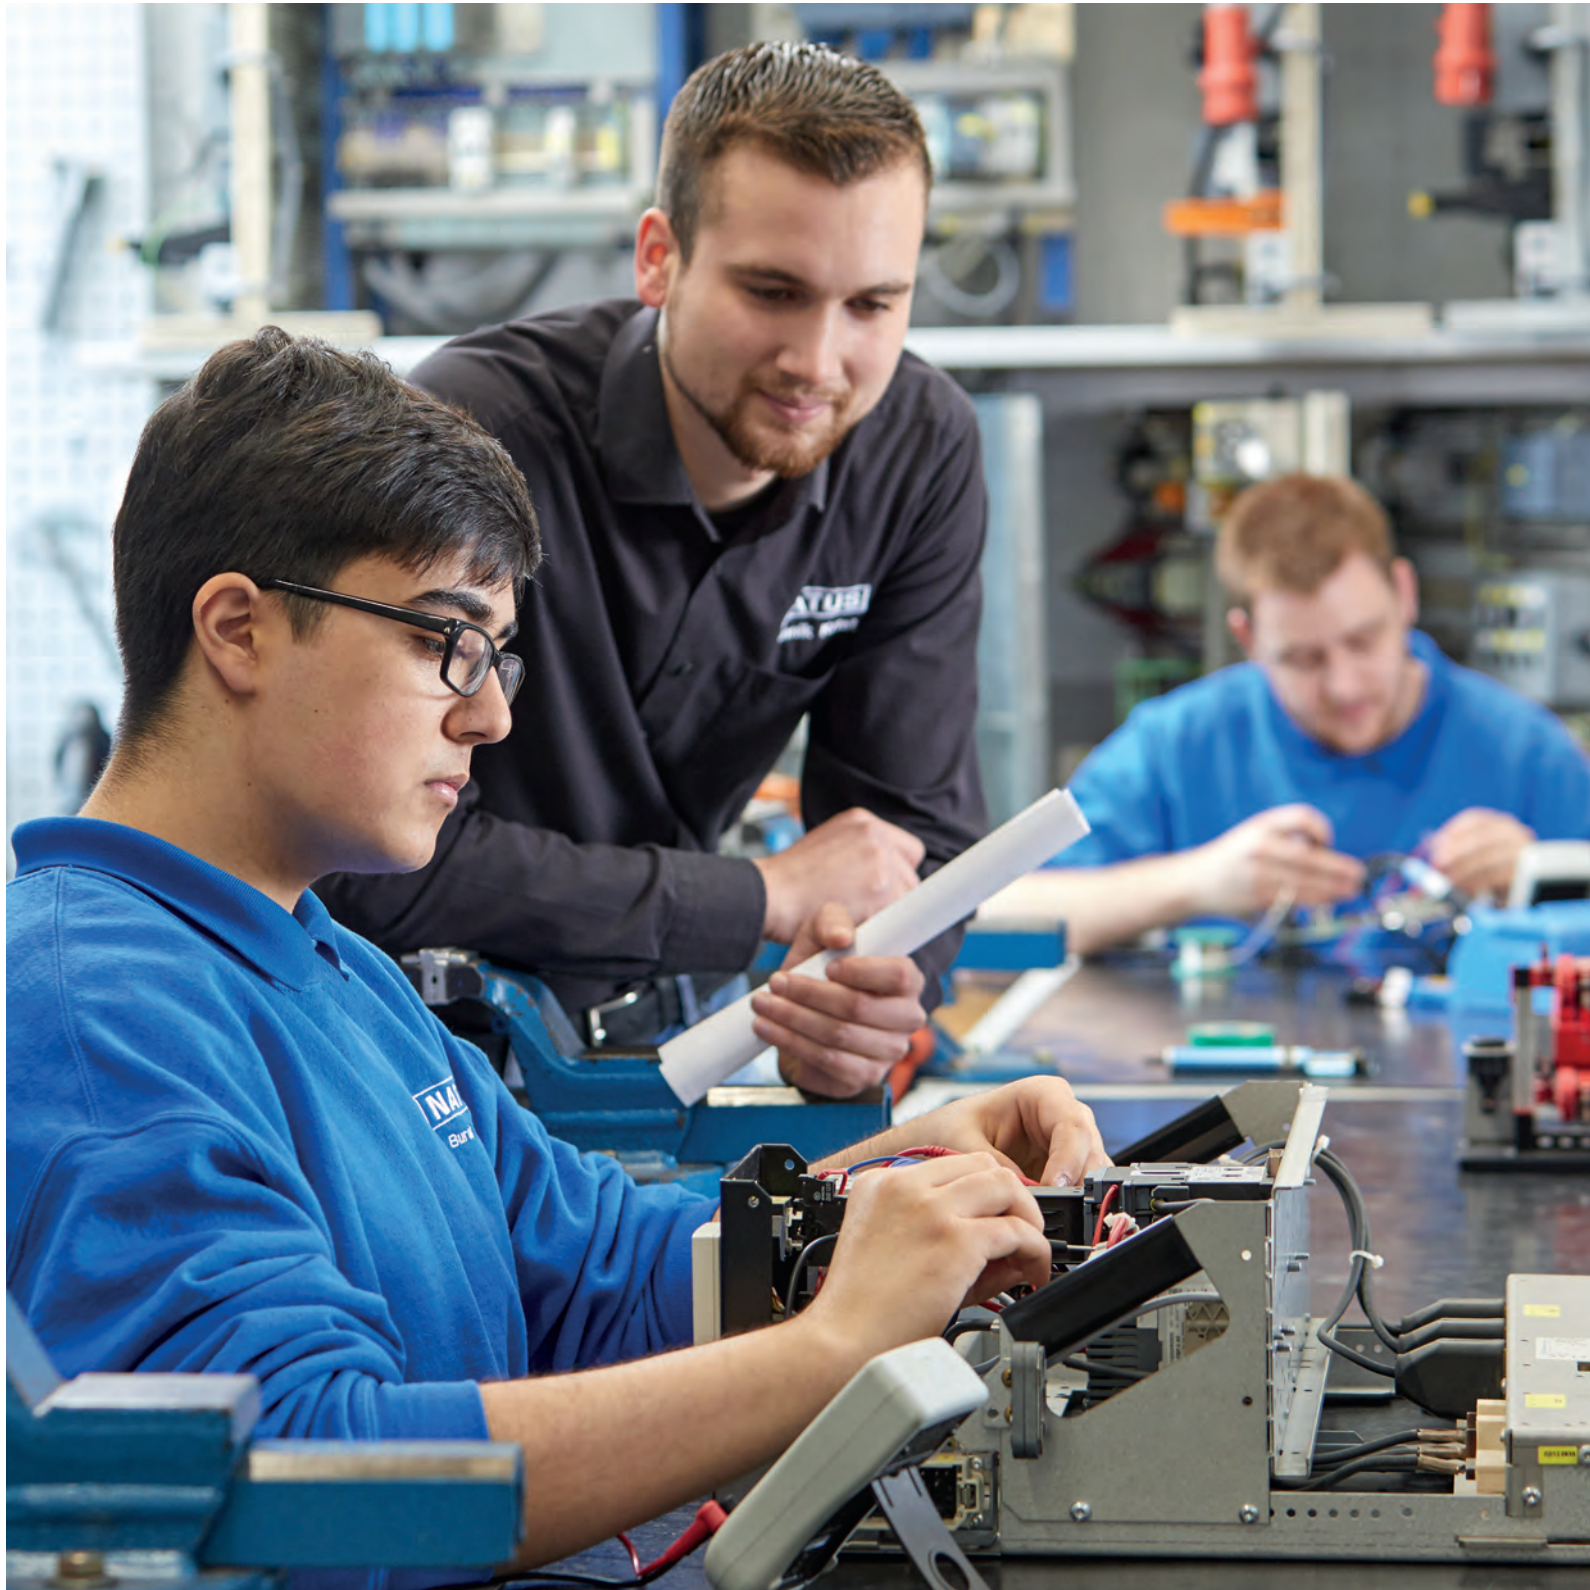

Sustainability is therefore an essential pillar of the NATUS corporate strategy. As part of an integrated management system we align our processes with ecological, economic and social aspects of sustainability.

The key criteria include quality management, environmental protection, energy efficiency and social responsibility.

We are constantly developing our sustainability strategy. This is how we reliably create added value and trust for our customers and employees and demonstrate responsibility for our environment and our society.

NATUS is always on the move

INNOVATIONS IN THE FUTURE

One of the central strategic objectives is the sustainable increase in the value of our company.

The strongest driving force here is innovation. It is not enough to deliver superior product quality in international competition, it also requires the sustainable optimization of our processes. In addition to the targeted new and further development of our products and processes these innovations are also reflected in the commitment of our employees.

The opportunity to contribute ideas and suggestions about the continuous improvement process is seen as a solid and incredible company potential and is constantly used and consequently implemented.
